WOMAN CPA OF THE YEAR ANNOUNCED

DAYTON, OHIO -- The American Woman's Society of Certified Public Accountants (AWSCPA) has announced that its Woman CPA of the Year award was recently presented to Mary F. Cheaney, CPA at the 2011 Annual Conference for Women in Accounting in Charlotte. It is given by AWSCPA to an individual for outstanding contributions to the accounting profession.

Cheaney is a practicing CPA with offices in Plantation, Florida, with over 30 years experience in taxation, specializing in tax planning and compliance in real estate and partnership areas. Prior to opening her own firm, Cheaney worked for two national CPA firms and the Internal Revenue Service. She is active in nonprofit boards, has served on the AWSCPA national board and is a member of the AICPA's Women's Initiatives Executive Committee.

She has served in numerous roles with the American Woman's Society of CPA's, including national President in 2008-09, on the board of directors for the Educational Foundation for Women in Accounting, serving as national Foundation President in 2001-2002, and is also a long-standing certified instructor for the organization's Leadership Training Series.
